Poetry.

"The Shake."

BY A "REGENERATED REB."

"Let us now shake hands over the bloody chasm."—Horace Greeley.

I.

Oh! the shake! the terrible shake!
Over the chasm you helped us to make,
Crimsoned with blood of the numberless braves
Sleeping to-night in their lonely graves—
Quietly, calmly, gently sleeping,
Loved ones kneeling over them weeping,
As the stream flows on in its terrible bed,
The waves kiss the shores where we buried the dead.
Ah! you might as well ask of the dead to forsake
The graves where they sleep as the living to "shake."

II.

Oh! the shake! the beautiful shake!
How meek and how humble the speech you make.
Asking the North and South to shake hands
After you've sundered the strongest of bands,
Burning, starving, killing, fighting,
Crushing the South you took a delight in;
First cry out, "Free the South of her slaves,'
Last to weep over the white soldier's graves;
As well might you shout for the dead to awake,
As to tell us to meet at the "chasm" and "shake."

III.

Oh! the shake! the horrible shake!
As poisonous, too, as the bite of a snake,
You forgot that 'twas you was the first from afar
Who wrote, talked, and shouted aloud for the war,
"Honest," "faithful," "loyal" old figure,
Abusing the white man, hugging the nigger,
Now that you've got 'em, and turning their coats.
You meekly bow down to us white men for votes.
When you reach the White House, the seat for to take,
Just write to us, Horace, we'll come up and "shake."

IV.

Oh! that shake! that "healthy" old shake!
Do you think, you old coon, that our honor's at stake?
Or that we of the South are improperly schooled?
If you do you will find that you're terribly fooled.
Friendly, honest, and willing to do
More for the country than voting for you,
We carried the muskets, and fought, too, like men,
While you and old Watterson stuck to the pen,
I'm afraid that you've both made an awful mistake,
For the mass of the people ain't much "on the shake."

V.

Oh! the shake! the bully old shake!
What a "healthy" old President, Horace, you'd make!
You might ask the angels in Heaven as well
To reach down and "shake" with the demons in hell,
Foolish, crazy, shallow old sham,
Do you think we can vote for a Radical ram
Which the Liberals hold by the horns, looking pale,
For fear that the Democrats let go the tail,
You can both kick and butt, and then "crawl up the spout,"
With the sweet consolation that "shaking's played out."

VI.

Oh! the shake! the shaky old shake!
That you and some others endeavored to make.
The "roosters let down," and the coon climbed a tree.
'Twas the grandest old fizzle you ever did see,
Torch lights, music, speeches, and noise,
'Twas death on the party, but fun for the boys
If we've got to swallow a Radical pill
We'll swallow the one that will cure and not kill,
For we know that the Grant pills are healthy to take!
We've tried 'em four years, and we aint "shook a shake."

"UP IN A BALLOON."—In Sunday Commercial.

Political.

General Grant in the Canvass.

General Grant has borne himself throughout the Presidential canvass in such a manner as to greatly increase the high respect which he was already held by the nation. He has acted with a calm dignity and a self-respecting reserve conspicuously contrasting with the indecorous spectacle, the piteous appeals, and the nauseating abasement exhibited by the morbid and infatuated Greeley. Instead of traveling about the land soliciting votes for himself and playing every disgusting part to win them, he has preserved a becoming silence and a manly attitude. He has demeaned himself from beginning with the spirit which befits his position as President and Presidential candidate.

Even the vindictive and unparalleled shower of defamation rained down upon his head has not for a momeut disturbed his equanimity. Never was a candidate so virulently pelted with vile calumny. Never was a man who had done such illustrious service to his country assailed with such unscrupulous and malignant weapons. And never did any man bear himself in so honorable a manner under so dishonorable a warfare. General Grant has rested in the perfect conciousness of his own rectitude. He has trusted for his vindication to the manliness and fairness of the people. He has been content that they should judge him upon his career and record. Modestly, steadily, unswervingly he has gone forward in his own way. While his enemies were barking at him for leaving the capital, he jauntily proceeded to the St. Lawrence. While they were howling about his "loitering at the sea side," he remained unmoved at Long Branch, all the time seeing to it that no public business was neglected. In this contempt for the dogs that are yelping on his heels and this implicit confidence in the sound sense of the people, there is a sturdy independence and a strong manhood which the masses like. General Grant himself believes in the substance rather than the shadow, and evidently thinks the people do.

Throughout his career as President, and his bearing as a Presidenttal candidate, as well as throughout the war. General Grant has vindicated the judgment long ago formed of his character and strength. He has grown greater with time. He is not a showy leader. He does not give us a dazzling Administration. He does not blind us with the glamour of brilliant and glittering exhibitions. But he has never failed of that sound, saving sense which is incomparably more valuable in a ruler than the most showy qualities. He displays in all his action the clear judgement, the well-ballanced mind, and the honest purpose, which constitute the best equipment of the man who is to serve the people in the Presidential chair. If he does not pronounce brilliant speeches, he does great acts. If he does not make shining promises, he furnishes grand fulfillments. Our best Presidents have been of his quality. It was Lincoln's hard sense, and not his few speeches, that made him so great a Chief Magistrate. It was Jackson's manliness and intrepidity, and not any brilliancy, for he hadn't it, which made him so popular. It was Washington's strong judgement and moral greatness, and not any transcendent genius, which made him easily the chief over such statesmen as Hamilton and Jefferson, and so honored by the whole nation. Grant has something of the qualities of all three, blended with his own peculiar greatness.

He combines the boldness of the self-reliant man with the moderation of the man who respects the opinion of others. He is always quick to assume the responsibility which belongs to him, and never prone to usurp the function which belongs to somebody else. As a general he heard his council and dicided for himself; as a President he gives his judgement and executes the policy committed to him. The most Cæsarian of the soldiers, he is the most deferential of rulers, for he recognizes the difference between the camp and the Cabinet. He planned the splendid campaign against Vicksburg and executed it with the daring of genius, trusting implicity to his own star. But when he came to a campaign of peaceful policy in the Presidential chair, he listened to the voice of the people and the judgment of Congress. All the honors which the nation has heaped upon him have not changed his character a single hair. He's the same modest, unassuming, self-poised man as when he gained attention of the country with his first victory. He is sagacious in counsel, clear in judgment, wise in policy, firm in action. The nation has thoroughly tried him in every situation, and he has justified its confidence in the storm of the political battle as well as in the struggle of the field. The dignity and manliness he has evinced though this campaign commend him to the favor of the people scarcely less than the great achievements of his administration.

The Georgia Frauds—Career of a Spurious Democracy.

Suppressing the truth has ever been the humiliating, infamous office of Democratic journals and teachers. When it was almost impossible to circulate a religious book or paper of a political journal through the mails or otherwise among the Southern people, long before the war, if the question of slavery was discussed therein or allluded to, the mission of the Democratic journalist and stumper among an ignorant and bigoted auditory was to denounce as a Whig or Republican lie any mention of the facts.

When teachers and preachers were tarred and feathered, whipped and imprisoned, under mere suspicions of having a Yankee notion that slavery was not the most democratic institution in the world, the annunciation of the facts, with all the horrid details of cruelty, was pronounced an abolition fabrication, and the lawless barbarians were pronounced the most faithful observers of law and order.

When the notes of preparation for a great rebellion and the overthrow of the Union were heard all over the South, and the traitors were belching forth their treason in the Senate Chamber and the House of Representatives, the Democratic press of the North, in full sympathy with their southern allies, were proclaiming the traitors paragons of political virtue and the true conservators of the Constitution and Liberty.

When the traitors were proclaiming the election of Abrahan Lincoln an outrage to which they as defenders of slavery would not submit, and the inauguration of the President elect a wrong that should not be permitted to take place, not one word of condemnation, warning, or even admonition, was heard from these exponents of a spurious Democracy.

When overt acts of treason were being perpetrated and the Government was being disarmed in order to facilitate the dissolution of the Union, these same false leaders and teachers of the Democracy were crying aloud a State can not be coerced, and demanding the submission of loyal men a necessity to prevent a carnival of blood that should drench the altars and homes of Union men throughout the country.

When Abraham Lincoln uttered words of kindly admonition, and, baring his head to the blast, was swearing on the steps of the Capitol to maintain the Constitution and the Union, the response from throats hoarse with diabolical threats was, that the first blow to prevent the meditated destruction would be the signal for a fire in the rear from the Democratic masses of the Union howling in terror to their hiding places.

Organized treason was counseled by these same wicked and cowardly teachers, even after the blow had been struck and the stars and stripes had been ignominiously dragged from the Government buildings and fortifications of the South.

When at length the long-suffering and patience of Union-loving men had been exhausted, and the mailed hand of loyalty was streched forth for the crushing out of the rebellion, maudlin sympathy for wrongs of the red-handed traitors was the pabulum upon which the readers of Democratic journals were fed.

When, after eventful vicissitudes and a long and fearful struggle, involving mountains of treasure and rivers of blood, the rebellion had been brought to close, the hands of treacherous counselors in the loyal States were stretched across the "blood chams" to raise up their fallen friends for new efforts to thwart reconstruction in the interest of liberty and humanity.

When sullen and unreconciled traitors shewed by their acts that they could not be depended upon to second a single movement of the Government toward the establishment of universal freedom and political equality as the glory of the nation, they were comforted and aided day by day by the eager assurance of their Northern sympathizers.

When at length the enfranchisement of the blacks was found to be the only basis of security for the future, the whole land was filled with the maledictions of Democratic journals and speakers at the monstrous outrage, as they were pleased to call it, upon toe rights of the ruling class in the South.

When Southern Ku Klux banded together in solemn compact to scourge and intimidate Union sentiment out of the South, and their cruelties cried to Heaven for vengence, the same political teachers and leaders made light of such crimes as venal offences or denied them altogether as Republican fabrications for effect in the North. to keep alive a feeling of hostility toward unrepentant rebels.

When the strong arm of the Government, in obedience to the demands of outraged humanity and the insulted majisty of the law, was laid upon the midnight assassins, a howl of rage went up from these same false teachers against the "centralized despotism" as they were pleased to call the Government of the nation.

And now, (still true to their baleful mission,) when the evidence that unfriendly legislation, wholesale terrorism, and wanton murder have kept tens of thousands from the polls in Georgia, and made the election there a burlesque upon a free ballot, we see the whole Democratic press of the country in full chorus belittling the monstrous fraud and shouting over the victory achieved through such means as evidence of an uprising of the PEOPLE against the National Administration. They see not, heed not, the peril there is to free institutions in such assaults upon the freedom of the ballot and the purity of the ballot-box. The same men and journals exulted over the victories of repeaters and ballot-box stuffers within the precincts of Tammany. With them the end justifies the means; the end being a so-called Democratic ascendency upon the ruins of public virtue and the franchise of the American people.

If there is anything that is thoroughly understood by this time in the country in relation to the colored population of the South, it is that they regard the right to vote as a boon that must be cherished as above all price. They may be bribed, but they will cheat the briber before his eyes, by casting their votes where their sympathies lead, in favor of freedom and the friends of freedom. They are generally ignorant and unlettered, but an unerring instinct leads them against men who regard with unfriendly feeling the liberty of the colored race. They could and would be largely influenced by intelligent white Southerners, men whom they have long known and once obeyed, if they could see a purpose to benefit, and elevate them in the legislation, teaching, and practices of such Southerners. They have seen the reverse in Georgia, where the first labors of those who wrenched power by violence from the hands of Union men were directed to the imposition of new voting tests, and to an obstruction of the ballot-box against the masses. In the offensive attitude and violent acts of the Democracy of Georgia, they see the unaltered prejudices of their old task-masters. They would fain have recorded their votes for honest Republican candidates, men of intelligence, patriotism, and worth, such as headed the Republican ticket in Georgia; but the work of the oppressor had been too effectually done to admit of such free action. If they came singly they were met by cavils and technicalities that were insuperable. If the came in squads to encourage each other they were met by armed force—armed in brazen defiance of the laws of the State, that forbid the bringing of deadly weapons to the polls. The law effectually disarmed the colored voters, and thus made them the victims of the lawless, who are allowed to dictate in that section in all that relates to the blacks. As if to add insult to infamy, the preposterous story is told to Democratic readers (with the expectation that the credulity will be equal to its acceptance) that the Republicans issued fraudulent poll-tax receips to the negroes and pocketed money sent to pay such tax?

Thus, persistently, year after year, and in every phase of this contest between freedom and slavery, between loyalty and disloyalty, the Democracy are made to believe a lie by those who should be the first to rally to protect the right of the franchise and the purity of the ballot-box as the sacred necessity of free institutions.—Washington Chronicle.

Slandering Grant.

Maybe one of these days the journalists who make it their particular business to traduce the President will become discouraged at repeated failures, and turn to some more honest pursuit. General Grant, from the beginning of his career, has been persistently assailed in the most shameful manner, and after every assault his character has shone forth, not only untarnished, but brighter that before. For his first military successes he was rewarded with calumnies, which threatened for a time to destroy him; he held his peace, and false testimony broke down of itself, leaving his reputation higher than ever. At every critical period of the war he was attacked again; before Vicksburg, in the Wilderness, at Petersburg, and perhaps we shall never know how near we came to losing his services at moments when he alone could save our armies. Under these trials he was still silent, and the people, penitent for their temporary injustice, honored him afterward with all the more enthusiasm. When peace had been declared he was traduced with redoubled malice by all classes of his political opponents, from Andrew Johnson down to the World, and the result was his election to the Presidency by a most magnificent majority. In his present elevated position the attacks have been incessant, but though he has kept to his sensible resolution of holding his tongue, his enemies have been uniformly and immediately confuted. The calumnies connected with the September gold panic were among the wickedest and most ingenious to which he was ever exposed; he never deigned to answer them; yet see how easily and completely they were refuted, and how the popular respect for the President increased when it became known what part he really had in the events of that memorable period.

The defamatory attacks are continued, of course. We never knew the propagators of such stories to acknowledge their falsity after it had been proved: but this makes little practical defference, for the people know the truth, and will honor their President all the more for the obloquy of which he has been made the victim. Judging from the past, we should say that General Grant's enemies are taking the best course to insure his election for another term.

The Justice of the Virdict rendered by the public years ago in favor of the Mexican Mustang Liniment must be apparent to all who have used that famous preparation or seen it used. Its healing influence is irresistible. The most obstinate forms of neuralgic or rheumatic disease are totally cured by it, and that in an inconceivably short space of time. External injuries sores, whether of man or beast, as well as all equine or human maladies for which a linimedt may be used, are speedily remedied by its use. Remember it is not merely a palliative but an eradicant of disease.

Greeley's Aspirations.

The Philadelphia North American vouches for some curious statements respecting a meeting of prominent Republicans, just before the opening of the last session of Congress, to consult about harmonizing the party. Among the questions was to satisfy Horace Greeley, whose troublesome importunities for office had been felt ever since Lincoln became President, and whose disappointments had been reflected in the course of his paper. The writer says:

"These facts being known at Washington to the Republican leaders it was determined to offer Greeley the Vice-Presidency, as in that position he would be comparatively harmless, and yet the dignity might satisfy his vanity. He accepted the offer, and in pursuance of the agreement Vice President Colfax wrote and published his letter declining again to be a candidate, and withdrawing from public life. Mr. Colfax thus generously sacrificed himself to satisfy the mad and desperate ambition of Horace Greeley, and to harmonize the Republican party. But after all this was done some Southern politicians invited Horace to visit the South, which he did, and during his tour they flattered and caressed him to such an extent as completely to upset his judgment; so that on his return he expressed himself as strong enough to take the first place on the ticket instead of the second. This of course put him out of the Republican calculations. He could not get the party nomination for President, and he knew it, because the party was overwhelmingly against him; so he set himself to intrigue for a coalition nomination, and got it.

But in the meantime his shifting and changeful course had put Mr. Colfax out of the field, without helping the party; and those who had been determined not to accept Horace even for Vice President had already occupied the field with arrangements to nominate Henry Wilson. We cite these facts for the purpose of showing that Mr. Greeley's position is attributed to no public principle at all, but solely to his ambition and overweening vanity. At almost any period of his public life he could have commanded important and influential positions, but whenever any of these were placed within his reach he did not think them important enough, and demanded something higher. And even at the time when he was maintaining a separate Republican organization of his own in New York city, in the interest of the Tammany Ring, he was a candidate first for Governor of New York and next for United States Senator.

The public at large, which has been kept in ignorance of these things, and misled by an extraordinary belief that Horace Greeley was an honest though misguided fanatic, has given him a vast power to do mischief, and he has used it most unscrupulously. President Lincoln's weared and hopeless exclamation. "Will nothing quiet Horace Greeley?" expresses the spirit of all the leading Republicans whose judgment was of any value. Fortunately, however, Mr. Greeley saved us a great deal of trouble by going over to the enemy. That at once cleared the field for action. We all knew then that his power for mischief was at an end; that his Republican followers would desert him, and that now, at last, he would be quieted. Once safely lodged in the Democratic ranks, a humiliated and defeated candidate, he may blaze away at the Republican policy and party to his heart's content. It was only his position as leading Republican that gave him the power to do much mischief.

The Probable Result.

THE INCONSISTENT CANDIDATE.

The attitude of HORACE GREELEY, one of the candidates for the Presidency, is one of singular inconsistency. A life long Protectionist, he has become the candidate of the Free Traders. A zealous advocate of the Coustitutional Amendments, he becomes the candidate of men who persistently opposed them and who still denounce them. A most persistent clamorer for the Congressional acts for the suppression of Ku Klux outrages and the enforcement of the right to vote, he becomes the candidate of a party that is pledged to the repeal of all these laws and is now urging his friends to vote for the election to Congress of the most violent opponents of all this beneficent legislation. The professed friend of the freedman, he would now abandon him to the tender mercies of those who believe he was created to be a slave. The earnest advocate of the annexation of San Domingo, he now joins in the cry raised against the President for having favored that measure. Until quite recently the defender of General Grant and his Administration, he now stultifies himself by joining in the very charges against the President which a few months ago he denounced as both false and unjust. Until very recently the most violent opponent of the Democratic party, declaring it to be "simply the rebellion seeking to achieve its essential purposes within and through the Union," he now joins hands with that party, becomes its candidate and promises to build it up with patronage in case of his election. Having urged the passage of all reconstruction acts and indorsed them all after their passage, and even clamored for more and stronger measures, he becomes the candidate of those whose chief ground of complaint against the Republican party is the enactment and enforcement of these very measures.

But this isn't all. Having pledged himself and advised all other Republicans to abide by and support the nominees of the National Republican Convention, he turned his back upon the party before its Convention was held and became himself a candidate, not simply against General GRANT, but against the Republican party. Who can have any confidence in such unparalelled inconsistency?

PENNSYLVANIA'S REBUKE TO HER RECREANT SONS.

We are more than ever proud of our native State, grand old Pennsylvania True to herself, true to her traditions, true to her faithful sons and true to the patriotic National Administration, she taught the designing and ambitious politicians who had resolved to accomplish their selfish ends that the only way to lead is first to learn to follow. There is FORNEY, and CURTIN and MCCLURE. One year ago all these men stood high in the estimation of the people, but they were not satisfied with a reasonable degree of popularity; they were not satisfied to serve their party and country in the positions assigned them. Defeated in the realization of their aspirations, they sought to destroy the party by the advocacy of whose principles they had mounted to power and notoriety, and build up in its place a new organization which they hoped to control in the interests of their selfish personal purposes. Now there is no man so poor, politically, as to do either of them "reverence." They have committed the unpardonable sin of seeking to create upon a false basis false issues, and of attempting first to delude, and then to dictate to the American people what their duties are and how they shall perform them.

HORACE GREELEY claims to be the candidate of Reform! And yet he is the regularly acknowledged candidate of the party which never favored a genuine reform measure—a party which looks backward and not forward. And to-day he is opposing the party which has led in accomplishment of the grandest reforms of the century!

THE HORSE IN POLITICS.

About the silliest thing the Liberal papers have done in the Presidential campaign was to attack Gen. GRANT for showing his earnest appreciation of a well-bred horse. If there is a single editor in the United States who, when he lays his partisan zeal aside, does not prefer to ride behind a symmetrical, quick-stepping horse to a clumsy brute, then all we have to say is the man is a sloven, an impractical dreamer, and he sets more value on himself than the world is ever likely to do. Gen. GRANT has not shown more fondness for the improved type of horse than was shown for the same by GEORGE WASHINGTON, HENRY CLAY, ANDREW JACKSON, and all statesmen of like calibre, Was WASHINGTON less of a patriot because he surrounded himself with well-bred horses? Was ANDREW JACKSON less fitted to rule the country because he bred horses for and run them on the turf? Was HENRY CLAY less influential in the councils of the nation for the reason that he was partial to the race course? If love for the horse is the gravest charge that can be brought against Gen. GRANT, then weak indeed is the cause of the opposition. In a recent speech at Providence, R. I., Senator WILSON, among other things, said: "The President likes a good horse and knows how to drive one, and I like him the better for it. * * * The poet tells us that 'a thing of beauty is a joy forever,' and for one I think we ought to thank God every day of our lives for the wondrous beauties that our eyes behold. I like a beautiful flower, a beautiful tree, a beautiful man, and a beautiful woman. I do not complain because Gen. GRANT likes a fine horse." The Tribune pokes fun at this classification, and in doing so makes itself ridiculous. The British poets have declared time and again that a lovely woman on a fine horse beneath the wide spreading branches of a great oak formed the most beautiful picture to be seen in all England. Then, Senator WILSON had good authority for making the classification he did. Certainly there is beauty in the horse as well as in the flower, in the tree, and in woman. The feeble attempt at irony in the Tribune certainly is unworthy of the pages that have so often been all aglow with the clear, ringing, vigorous sentences of HORACE GREELEY.

THE OCTOBER VERDICT.

The verdict of the October elections is clear, unmistakable, emphatic. The Republican party was on trial, and the people have decided that it is the only true party of Reform and Progress, and that it would be unwise, as well as unsafe, to entrust the power of government into the hands of the reactionary class. Aye, and it proves that a political campaign cannot successfully be fought on the ground of personalities chiefly, for the masses vote for principles not men.

This verdict of the people further teaches the great lesson that parties are not made, but created. The so-called Liberal Democratic party is composed of diverse and antagonistic elements, associated together temporarily for a selfish purpose, instead of being united by any vital principle. Parties grow into power, and are built up when efficient organization fitly representing the indwelling spirit—the force which impels it forward.

The mission of the Republican party is not yet ended. It will not die nor give up the reins of power until the Democratic party is not only dead, but buried out of sight. It would be violently unnatural that the victor in so many battles should finally be overcome by its exhausted and disheartened foe, and all the glorious results of the last twelve years be put in jeopardy. The Liberal Democracy defied both reason and nature, and ruled by an insane lust for power, rushed on to ruin. And it is over whelming. They never can recover.

THE GREAT OFFICE BEGGER.

During HORACE GREELEY'S late electioneering "swing around the circle" he stated that he was not a dogmatist. It seems rather unfortunate that this statement has been left for Mr. GREELEY to make himself. It would have come with better grace from the lips of others. It would relieve the public mind of some doubt if he would announce definitely what he is and stick to it through two consecutive speeches. It seems easier for him to tell what he is not than what he is, and so he adopts the former policy. Every speech he has made during the campaign is a very thinly disguised beg for votes. He talks to the farmers on agriculture, to mechanics on mechanical pursuits, to merchants on financial matters; and there is hardly an occupation in the entire range of human employment that he does not arrogate superior wisdom in and shower his advice in relation to it with all the garrulousness of senility. It has been said that a man who has a smattering of everything has but little knowledge of anything.

CAN'T DO IT.

It is no marvel that honest and sensible Democrats are sick and disgusted with the mongrel "trade and dicker" made at Baltimore. They feel that if they could have been permitted to go into the canvass true to their principles and traditions with a pronounced Democrat of respectable character and standing at their head, and they had been defeated, they would have been defeated with honor. They could have looked each other in the face like men, and felt no loss of manhood, even in the midst of disaster. As it is they feel that the party is not only doomed to defeat, but also to disgrace and ridicule. They cannot support a man who has been, not only their most active enemy for thirty years, but who during all that time had not ceased to pour out upon the party and its leaders sailing and seam, and vituperation without stint and almost without decency.

We oppose the election of Mr. GREE- because he numbers among his adherents the most dangerous elements in the country—North and South—and would, if elected, be surrounded by men from whom no genuine reform can be expected.

"RECONCILIATION"

The great cry of the GREELEY Reformers is for "reconciliation." It may be well to pause and witness how those reconcilers conciliate. They begin by black-mailing, slandering leading Republican statesmen. They allay strife by sticking to their charges of corruption and bribery in the very face of indignant and emphatic denials and the clearest proof that all the calumnies are false. They furthermore went on with their work of reconciliation by making peace with the colord men of Georgia by driving them from the polls and preventing them from voting. This business of blackening private characters and resorting to violence for political purposes is infamous under any circumstances, but it is doubly infamous when carried on in the name of "reconciliation" and reform.

REDUCTION OF TAXATION.

The steady reduction of taxation is a triumph of the administration which the Greeleyites fail to notice. Over $170,000,000 have been taken from the tax lists since the inauguration of General Grant. Nearly every necessity of life is now free from internal taxation. Yet, in the face of this immense reduction of revenue, the debt has been reduced over $358,000,000. Could Mr. GREELEY improve on this? Is it of the posibilities that he could do as well? The people believe he could not, hence the universal desire for the reelection of General GRANT.

VICTORY OVER ENGLAND.

Our peaceful victory over England has been overlooked in this campaign. The silent man, whose lips have been closed against the slanderous charges raised against him, has quietly prosecuted his labors, and relied upon their results for complete vindication. His peaceful triumph over England speaks volumes in itself. England pays into our treasury over $15,000,000 in gold. This is better than a fruitless war. Greeley never refers to this triumph of the administration.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.

The national debt has been reduced over $358,000,000 since General GRANT entered the White House, March 4th, 1869. This is a single argument that proves that the administration has not only practised honesty but introduced economy in every branch of the public service The people evidently want four years more of GRANT'S honest administration, and they expect to have it.

THE CONTRAST.

While GRANT has been reluctant to advise the conferring or to use the extraordinary military power conferred upon him in the government of the South, HORACE GREELEY was loudly and vehemently crying out for and demanding it. The "soldier" was slow to use military power, while the "man of peace" fiercely demanded it.

A CONUNDRUM.

What is the chief resemblance between the Father of his Country and the Father of the Tribune? Wood chopping. G. W. chopped trees in his first childhood ond H. G. chops 'em in his second childhood.

"Any man who won't vote for Greeley, by G—d, sir, is no Democrat"

So declares the self constituted party Mogul—the incorruptible FRANK BLAIR. According to his theory a Democrat must have no mind, no judgment, no conscience, no soul, no manhood of his own, but must become a servile helot and voting chattel.

Now we understand true Democracy to be that supreme law of equity which asserts the completest liberty of every man that is compatible with the equal liberty of all men. Democracy, pure and unadulterated, is the acceptance of this law as a guide in all the affairs of government, of society, of life. It tests every proposition by that perfect rule of right doing, accepts and labors to promote whatever the test approves, and rejects as pernicious evil whatever it disapproves. Adherence to this, the only correct democratic authority, is what makes a man a true democrat. And all who follow the teachings of this rule must vote agaist HORACE GREELEY.

That HORACE GREELEY has a capacious heart cannot be denied. It was feared that he had lavished all the affection that any one man can comfortably possess during his recent pilgrimage through Pennsylvania, and that Indiana and Kentucky had absorbed all the tenderness a man could feel for any people; but lo! his foot no sooner touches the soil of other sections than yet unseen fountains of love are tapped and the most cold-blooded spectator is moved to tears to see how convulsively he embraces and "clasps hands" with "friends and countrymen." It beggars description.

We oppose the election of HORACE GREELEY because we have no faith in his financial ability, and because the country does not know what policy he would adopt in place of the wise, sound and safe policy of Gen. GRANT, which is now working so well for the country, and because there is reason to fear that he would endeavor to carry out theories which he is known to entertain upon the subject—theories as unsound as they are absurd.

The Hon. WM. F. HAVEMEYER has accepted the Republican nomination for Mayor of New York. Mr. HAVEMEYER is exceedingly popular among Germans, a gentleman of spotless reputation and of the highest character. His nomination is the severest blow that Mr. GREELEY has received in New York, and puts the State beyond all question in November.

When was the National credit so sound all over the world as it is to-day; and when have our Government securities stood so high in foreign markets. Do not these facts speak volumes in favor of the Republican Administration? Why attempt to change it? Why?

There is no enthusiasm among the Democrats in this Presidential contest. The leaders having renounced the history the traditions, the policies as well as the principles of the party, the rank and file feel no heart, no interest in the struggle. The result will be to give GRANT at least twenty-seven States, including New York. HORACE GREELY will get the smallest number of electoral votes ever cast for a Presidential candidate.

The test vote in Pennsylvania was on the Congressmen at large. The majority rolled up for the Republican candidates was 47 000. Our old and valued friend Hon. ULYSSES MERCUR was elected to the Supreme Court Bench by a majority of 40,000. Gen. HARTRANFT'S majority for Governer was 35,627. Well done for Pennsylvania. She will give over 50,000 for GRANT.

No Republican can vote for HORACE GREELEY because he is the candidate of the Democratic party, and if elected would be compelled to administer the Government in the interest of that party. To turn his back upon it after it had elevated him to power, would be to meet the fate of JOHN TYLER and ANDREW JOHNSON.

Remember that the Cincinati Baltimere platform contains no pledge in favor of enforceing the amendments to the Constitution by national law. The matter is referred to "local self government." Let the local govrnments in the South be turned over to the control of the Democracy and practically these amendments would be null and void.

Nebraska, the State of Senator TIPTON, has "gone back" on him, to his chagrin and mortification. He came down South and went East and told the people to vote for GREELEY. In the meanwhile the people of his own State doubled their Republican majority since the last Gubernatorial election. It is now about seven thousand.

Should HORACE GREELEY be elected President one of two things would inevitably follow: either a Democratic Administration, or or a conflict with the House of Representatives. In the latter event the scenes of JOHNSON'S administration would be reenacted. From both good Lord deliver us!

The first reports from South Carolina claimed that the Conservatives had elected one Congressman—B. F. PERRY. It appears, however, that it is a mistake; that he has been defeated. South Carolina in the next Congress will present a solid front to the common enemy.

The great amendments to the Constitution will not enforce themselves. They must depend upon appropriate national legislation. A mongrel Congress—composed of "Liberals" and Democrats, cannot be depended on to do this.

THE ERA.—The Raleigh Era is now issued as a daily. It is ably conducted and is doing good service for the Republican cause. It should have liberal support.

"As Pennsylvania goes so goes the Union" is an old and quite familiar adage. She has never lost her electoral vote. She will not do so this time. Alas, poor HORACE GREELEY!!

"Never say die."—Greeley Managers.

It is as well perhaps not to say it, but you will die all the same. In the eloquent language of PIKE:

"That mule's eyes is so."

To whom is the country indebted for one uniform and reliable currency? To the Republican party. If you would not have this jeopardized and changed, vote to keep this party in power.

The present Congressional delegation of Pennsylvania consists of ten Democrats and twelve Republicans. The next delegation will consist of 22 Republicans and only 5 Democrats.

We learn that the Greeley head-quarters at Washington have been closed and the documents sold for waste paper.

Hon. LOUIS HANES, "Liberal Republican" delegate to the Cincinnati Convention, is out for GRANT. Significant.

Do not forget that the Presidential election occurs on the first Tuesday in November, being Tuesday next.

Stand by the guns.—Democratic papers.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE.—The November number of the Electic is at hand, and presents a timely portrait, handsomly engraved on steel, of JAMES ANTHONY FROUDE. Another timely feature of this number is the excellent biographical sketch of the late. WILLIAM HENRY SEWARD, reproduced frem the New-York Tribune,

The table of contents embraces seventeen articles, amongst the most attractive of which are the leader on "Japan;" "A Voyage to Ringed Planet;" "Novels and their Times;" "A Pilgrimage to Port Royal;" "George Eliot;" "Secret Police of Paris;" "Prose and Verse;" "Domestic Life and Economy in France;" "The Mother of Facques," a most charming and pathetic story: "Development in Dress;" "Motors and Shooting-Sairs;" a sketch of Fames Anthony Froude;" with several poems, and additional chapters of "The Strange Adventures of a Phaeton."

Published by E. R. PELON, 108 Fulton Street, New-York. Terms, $5 a year two copies, $9. Single number, 4cent s

The Galaxy opens with an article by Mr. Rhodes on "The Dutch at Home," which takes us into those agreeable and picturesque scenes which characterize Holland. It is lively, fresh, and truthful, and gives us much interesting information. De Forest discourses upon "Gregory VII—King of Kings." Mr. S. G. Young brings up the subject of the comparative health of Americans and Europeans, and asserts that the former are less healthy than the latter. Carl Benson discusses "Publishers and Authors," taking, as we might expect, the side of the authors. Junius Henri Browne writes a curious chanter about Death, in which he almost convinces us that this experience is rather agreeable than otherwise. He would have us agree with Luean, that

"Cunningly to make us protract this breath.
The gods conceal the happiness of death."

There is a very poetic and entertaining chapter descriptive of Venice; and an article on Poussin and his master, and many other good things.

TO-DAY.—This is the title of a new candidate for popular favor. It is a splendidly illustrated weekly literary paper, making over one thousand quarto pages per year, with over two hundred illustrations, edited by the universally popular DIO LEWIS.

In addition to the novel and practically valuable department to be written exclusively by the editor, To-Day will be filled with choice stories, sketches, scientific, art, and literary items &c., &c

The remarkable gift of the beautiful and artistic chromo, "Just so High!" (a copy of Mrs. Anderson's celebrated picture of that name,) renders this undoubtedly the greatest combination of real worth and merit ever made.

Terms $2.50 a year. Address MACLEAN, STODDARD & Co., Philadelphia, Boston, New York and Cincinnatti.

The Atlantic for November contains twelve papers, the first of which is the conclusion of Dr. Holmes, Poet at the Breakfast Table, which ends happily, of course, and leaves us wishing that the author may soon appear in the Atlantic again with his ever agreeable wit, humor, pathos, and philosophy. Mr. Parton contributes another chapter on Mr. Jefferson, relative to his influence in stirring up the great French revolution. Mr. James has another chapter of his fascinating "Guest's Confession," John Fisk has an article on a favorite theme, "The Primeval Ghost World," and Mr. Charles W. Stoddard contributes an entertainning sketch about "A Prodigal in Tahiti." "Recent Literature" gives us some excellent criticism on the best of the new books, and altogether this number is of the usual unsurpassed quality.

The November number of "OLD AND NEW" contains much live writing refering to subjects of present interest. Mr. Hale in the Introduction boldly defends as a magazinist his right and duty to discuss politics, very much as the ministers used to do in the Kansas times. His story of "Ups and Downs" continues; Mrs. Greenough begins one of her weird narratives, which is to run through several numbers, and has a beautiful snake-woman in it. Mr. Martineau's article is a powerful and beautiful assertion of conscience. There is a sensible article by a working-man on the workingmen's troubles; an entertaining selection of apologues from the "Gesta Romanorum;" a sprightly little sketch about dres, entitled "Lou's Baloon;" a letter from Virginia about the Negro Vote; a curious account of Gen. Howard's Indian treaties; and an unusual number of notices of New Books. Altogether, it is a strong and readable number.

YOUNG FOLKS for November has further chapters of Trowdridge's story "A Chance for Himself;" "Our Little Woman," by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps; "Scenes in Siam," a jolly illustrated paper; "The Hornet's Nest;" "The Blind Lamb," by Cella Thaxter; "Snap's Revenge," and many other nice things. This magazine is the best of its kind in America, and the kind is excellent.

Correspondence.

(One of the "strayed letters" referred to last week has just reached us—written on the 2nd, and arriving here on the 26th!! Who can explain the delay? The others have not yet come to light—EDITOR.)

Another Letter from the Editor.

TO OUR READERS. The Editor is still enjoying himself "hugely." This Western country is truly a magnificent one, and its people are large hearted, earnest, enterprizing and progressive. Their achievements are the marvels of the century. It is really wonderful to witness what the hand of intelligent industry and the brain of educated intellect have accomplished. Nor is this confined to mere material development, but the imposing Educational edifices that meet your eye in town and country show that the people properly appreciate the importance of carefully preparing the rising generation for the active and responsible duties of life. We never saw such care and taste displayed in the erection and the surroundings of even the common country School Houses. Would that our people could catch the inspiration and be aroused to a full comprehension of public duty as well as public interest in this matter. When we of the South turn our attention to building rail roads, erecting manufactures and properly fostering and promoting popular education we can compete with this growing, expanding and progressive West, and not til then. Let us be wise before it is too late.

We have already visited various portions of this State and have been gathering information that we hope to make available hereafter. The system of Agriculture here is far in advance of us, and attention has been paid to the culture of Fruit—an important matter we have too much neglected—that is now returning a bouniful harvest to the people. Yesterday we visited one of the largest and most successful Fruit Growers of the region—Dr. L. S. PENNINGTON. His orchard covers 120 acres. He has every variety of Apple and Pear, and, having made the subject a study, he gave us many valuable suggestions. He is an intelligent, large hearted gentleman and a public spirited citizen.

The political cauldron is getting up to fever heat, and each day seems to add to the enthusiasm for the Republican nominees from county offices up to the President. Illinois is all right. LYMAN TRUMBALL will not be reelected to the United States Senate. He and his Liberal Democratic conspirators are destined to overwhelming defeat. We see evidences of this cropping out all over the State. They already see the hand writing on the wall and are becoming decidedly disgusted with themselves and the situation. Before the novelty of their unholy coalition wore off, they hobnobbed together most lovingly. They were all in full chorus after offices and each was industrious in seeking to make a favorable impression upon the other. But the nominating Conventions have been held, and a large number of hungry fellows have not been provided for. As LINCOLN used to say, "there were more pegs than holes;" and those who failed to be recognized in the general distribution have lost much of their interest in the election. What little fellow feeling yet remains among them is distracted by jealousies and recriminations. They have no confidence in each other and they do not hesitate to show it.

Taking the arrangment of Senatorial Districts by the last Legislature, altogether, by our standing table, we to-day put it in the very best light for the "Democrats," it is susceptible of being made.

The population of the State, by the Census reports under which the Senatorial Districts were arranged, is 1,071,461 souls. This population divided among Fifty Senators would give an average population to each Senator of 21,429

But to the Thirty-two Conservative Senatorial Districts the Legislature allotted an average of 20,899

Short to each Democratic Senator 530

Now to each Republican Senatorial District this same Legislature alloted a population of Proper average 21,429

An excess over proper average, a population to each Republican Senator, of 942

Taking the average population allotted to Republicon Senatorial Districts 22,371 and subtracting therefrom the average populations in the Conservative Districts 20,899

we have each Republican Senator representing a population of 1,472

more than the Legislature has permitted its Conservative Senators to represent.

This we say is the very best light the matter can be placed in. It is the best phase of the gerrymander. We ask the public to examine into it closely and prepare their minds for the exhibition of infamous gerrymandering we shall proceed to give them from time to time, reference being always had to the facts as suggested by the table standing elsewhere.—Era.

The Democratic Party.

John Leech, in one of his rural sketches, represents a surly fellow in the mining districts growling out at another, "Thee a mon! Why, thee's only walkin' about to save thee funeral expenses." A more truthful and graphic description of the present condition of the Democratic Party could not be given. A party which could not hope, or even pretend to hope, for success with a candidate from its own ranks; which was so demoralized that it could not screw its courage to the sticking point of insisting that the leader of the Democratic Party must at least be a Democrat; which has been abandoning its distictive principles, one by one, and taking new departures, until it is like the jack-knife that had had three new blades and and two new handles;—such a party is surely without any principle of life, and is without any pretense of separate existence or peculiar purpose, save one—the seeking of office. Of course it would not do to confess this moribund condition of the once great Democratic Party, or the unlovely thing would soon be laid in its proper place, beneath the sod. Therefore it continues to walk about, a yet not quite parted ghost, vexing the world with its antemortem depositions. The Baltimore Convention was a proceeding purely of this character. A dreadful event of some kind must surely take place; it was inevitable. It promised to be a funeral; and so in desperation it was changed to a wedding; and the world saw the preformance of that solemn farce, the marriage of the tender and blushing, yet eager Horace Greeley, to the decrepit and moribund old Democratic Party.—Times.

Republican Meeting in Jordan.

Dr. P. John, editor of the NORTH CAROLINIAN, of Elizabeth City, N. C. addressed the citizens of Jordan on the political issues of the day on Friday evening last. It was an able and eloquent appeal in favor of the principles and policy of the great National Republican party. Coming from the South, and representing its loyal people, being a man of character and influence, and being largely engaged in business in the "Old North State," his testimony had great weight. Thoroughly posted as to the aims and purposes of the late rebel leaders, and appreciating the aims and desire of the Union element, white and colored, he declares that the election of Greeley would be a national calamity, and that the only hope of the South, its peace and prosperity, is the re-election of Grant, and the retention of the government in the hands of the men and party who put down the rebellion, and who have the nerve to make the constitution, both in letter and spirit, the supreme law of the land. His discourse was frequently applauded, and was listened to with marked attention from beginning to end. The Jordan Glee Club, under the lead of Mr. H. S. Hink, favored the meeting with several excellent Grant campaign songs, prepared for the occasion. The meeting adjourned with three hearty cheers for Grant and Wilson, and for Dr. John, the speaker of the evening.—Sterling (Ill.) Gazette.

Hon. John Pool.

We have heard so much of "the infamy of John Pool" and his "enmity to the people of North Carolina" from the opposition presses and speakers, that it is worth while to present here a short extract from a speech of his in the Senate, April 5, 1871, for which he was so generally denounced and misrepresented by the opposition presses:—

In was intimated here that I had abused the State, "maligned" it, I think, was the word the Senator from Missouri used. I maligin the State of the State of North Carolina! What did I ever say against that glorious State! What did I ever say against her people? I have expressed indignation and I have denounced the miserable organization of cutthroats and assassins who have banded together to disturb the peace of my State and that endangers its future prosperity and threatens to bring bloodshed and ruin upon the whole people. Is it true that I cannot denounce a murdeser, and assassin, or a band of murderers and assassination, without being charged with denouncing the State?—Ex.

16,000 Horses have the Epizootic in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct, 25.

The horse disease has at last succeed in affecting more or less every horse belonging to the horse car railroads, stagelines, express companies and other freight and passenger lines in the city. At a rongh estimate there appears to be about sixteen thousand horses sick in this city, with an equal number in Brooklin, of which three per cent. are in a dagerous condition. The valuable trotting stock here have also been visitad. Dan. Mace's horses are nearly all affected. The celebrated double team, Darkness and Plimpton, are being treated and the valuable colt, Eathen Allen, valued at twenty thousand dollars, belonging to Wheeler & Wilson's stables, is dangerously affected, Bonner's and Vanderbilt's horses have thus far escaped.

A Connecticut Woman to vote for President.

Norwalk, Conn., October 26.—The Norwich Board of Selectmen to-day admitted to the rights of elector Mrs. M. T. Huntington, and she will vote for Presidential electors. She is believed to be the first female voter thus admitted.

"I am content to let well enough alone," said Senator Ferry at Norwalk last week, and he gave some excellent reason, which all sensible men will consider, why Gen. Grant's Administration is not only "well enough," but very well.

Colonel Oscar Eastmond, who came into the State last Summer in the interest of the Greeley-Merrimon campaign, publishes a letter in The Asheville Pioneer of Tuesday, 22d inst., utterly repudiating and unequivocally renouncing Greeley.

S. Trivett of Ashe county, announced in The Daily News and other Greeley prints as an Assistant-Greeley- Elector-at-Large for the Seventh District, comes out in The Asheville Pioneer (extra) of Tuesday last, square for Grant and Wilson.

The Standard, an influential Democratic journal published at Anderson, Ind., which has until recently been an ardent supporter of Greeley for the Presidency, on Friday morning last hauled down his name, and gave its reasons for refusing to support him longer for that position. The telegram announcing the change, says that the Standard is a paper of great influence in the Democratic Party in its locality.

When Senator Wilson predicted that North Carolina would vote Republican the Greeley organs pronounced him wild. When he said the October elections would show large Republican majorities the same papers said he was talking for effect. But so far, every prediction he has thus given new grounds upon which to base his claim as the best informed politician of the country.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION:—The Whitside County Republican Convention was held in the city of Morison on the 5th, inst. The convention was called to order by W. C. Snyder, Esq., and on motion, Thos. A. Galt, Esq., of Sterling, was elected chairman. The editors of the Republican papers of the county were chosen secretaries, and Dr. P. John, of the North Carolinian, of Elizabeth City N. C., was invited to take seats with them. Whiteside (Ill) papers.

Many a Liberal organ might learn decency from the old Democratic Richmond Enquirer, which says: "The private life of the President has been very rudely assailed. We have abstained from any such beastly assaults, for we have too high a respect for the office, and we are too good an American to believe the American people would have such a man as he has been represented in certain quaters to be in that high position. The Southern people have political, and not personal, objections to Gen. Grant."

Under Democratic rule, when a merchant went to the cities to lay in his stock of goods, he was compelled to submit to a shave on the currency he took with him from his neighborhood. If a man traveled beyond the limits of his own State he found it necessary to procure the currency of whatever State he entered, often at the discount on the money he took with him, and always at an immense annoyance and trouble to himself. Now, no man looks at the currency he uses; or is questioned with regard to it. Every one knows that the resources and the credit of the entire country are pledged for the face value of it. If the Republican party had done no more than to eradicate the ragged shinplasters, that often would not pass for their face a score of miles from the bank which issued them, and substitute them for a currency which goes unquestioned from Maine to Oregon, it had done enough to secure for it the lasting gratitude and support of every business man and labor in the country.—Decatur Ill. Republican.

ADRUG STORE WORTH SEEING

To the Editor of the North Carolinian

During a recent visit to your little City I was among other things attracted by the new Drug Store of Dr. J. N. BUTT, No. 75 Road Street, and I cannot resist the impulse to ask your readers to call and see it, as it is not surpassed by any you will meet in the South, not in Baltimore will you find one more elegantly fitted up except its deficiency in gas lights which the Doctor hopes to supply soon. It is a two story brick building, 65 by 27 feet, with dwelling above. The lower story is divided into Dispensing Room, Office, Ware Room and Laboratory. The Store Room is very light. The front being entirely of plate glass, nine pieces 90 inches long, with two doors and one window, glass 56 x 90. The doors being double, shut one upon the other, and when open, as in summer, are folded back into a recess to the wall, making a straight line with the door and an elegant finish. The doors and flanges to the same being of plate glass, 90 inches long, does not impede the light open or shut. The floor is almost even with the pavement and is covered with a carpet of cocoa matting. There are two counters on either side, 12 feet long, beautifully white splendidly finished, and of good design with Italian marble tops. Their ends 8 feet from the doors, pass at right angle to the wall. On the right hand one is a Tennessee Marble Fountain, and on the other an Aquarium of Gold and other Fish. On either side between the door and counter, is a fine silver mounted walnut Show Case, 5 feet high, fastened to the wall a beautiful and attractive ornamen to display Fancy Articles, and in the rear a Poison Case of the same kind. Three find silver mounted and one plate glass Prescription Case, with scroll and clock on top, and one fine balance scale adorn the counters. There are over 120 drawers which make a fine display, they are of sweet gum varnished, which is the prettiest wood that could be used. The shelves are supported on iron brackets, at the terminus of which, 3 feet from the ceiling, is a snow white cornice, interlined with two strips of gilt moulding. The wall and entire store is pure white except the drawers and when lighted presents a very imposing display.

Last but not least, is the "little jewel" of an office, which is so much needed by every business man. The Doctor is doing, as he tells us, an extensive and lucrative office practice. It is fitted up in fine style, with every modern necessity and examinations are made with as much privacy as in your own home. The Laboratory is not yet finished, but when done will be a very responsible part of the establishment. The Doctor keeps a large stock of goods pertaining to the Drug Trade.

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

We call attention to the following new advertisements in this issue.

Notice to Tax-payers—O. C. Horton.

Notice to Creditors—O. C. Horton's New Goods.

Local and Personal.

☞Getting very scarce——locals and money.

☞Gold 1.11. As GREELEY "goes up" gold comes down.

☞Remember that Monday next is the last day for Registering. Don't neglect it.

☞Teachers and those interested are invited to read the notice of the County Examiner.

☞The late rains have helped to "fill up" the canal. The Boats are arriving on time again. May it continue.

☞The cotton gins are kept busy and bale after bale of the valuable staple is going off with every boat.

☞Our colored friend EDMOND LAMB has presented us with a sweet potato weighing six and a half pounds!

☞Rev. W. H. PITTS has been transferred to the Colored Methodist Church at Hertford, Rev. G. W. CONNOR going to Petersburg Va.

☞After this week we will resume our usual variety, devoting more attention to literature, agriculture, education and kindred subjects.

☞Turkeys will soon commence to roost high in anticipation of the wholesale slaughter which occurs annually about Thanks-giving time.

☞Some rogue, not having the fear of the law before his eyes, broke into the ware room of J. J. GRANDY, on Water Street, a few nights ago, and "gobbled up" a lot of corn.

☞We learn that the Democrats are circulating GREELEY electoral tickets with GRANT'S name at the head of them. See that all the tickets have the Republican electors all on them. Let no one be deceived.

☞There was a large Republican meeting in the Court House at this place on Wednesday evening last. Addresses were made by AUG. M. MOORE Esq., of Edenton, Rev. J. V. GIVENS of Petersburg Va. and the Editor of the NORTH CAROLINIAN.

☞From the Sterling (Ill.) Gazette we see that J. M. PATTERSON Esq., of that city, was nominated on the 15th inst. to represent the Eleventh District in the State Senate. We made his acquaintance during our recent Western visit and were favorably impressed. He is a gentleman of very high character, and of course will be elected.

☞The barn of GEO. D. POOL Esq. in Nixonton township, this County, was destroyed by fire on the morniug of the 2 th. The fire was discovered about 5, o'clock A. M., but too late to extinguish it. The loss, including agricultural implements, cotton gin press etc., is over $3000. Insurance about $1100. The origin of the fire is unknown.

☞As elsewhere announced, among the distinguished gentlemen whose acquaintance we had the good fortune to make during our recent Western trip was Dr. S. S. PENNINGTON, of Jordan Ill. He is one of the pioneers of North Western Illinois, and in addition to being one of her largest Farmers and Fruit Growers, he, by the sufferage of his fellow citizens, has for years been called upon to fill important official positions both in his town and county. His special attention and kindness to us will long be gratefully remembered.

☞We see by some of the New York papers that the "Currituck Sporting and Fishing Club" are preparing for extensive operations this winter. The grounds of the Club are on the Currituck Sound, some twenty miles from Elizabeth City It is a famous shooting ground. Water fowl of all kinds abound, and the lordly canvas-back ducks swarm in countless numbers. It consists of nearly two thousand acres of land, and is nearly surrounded by water. The present design is to form a shooting club of five hundred members at $50 each. Each member becomes as hareholder; and the $25,000 thus obtained will not only pay for the land, but put up a handsome club-house.

☞Considerable alarm is felt among owners of horses about a disease that is attacking them all over the country. In the large towns and cities of the North and East it has spread to an alarming extent. We hear of some cases here. In alluding to it the editor of the New York Turf Field and Farm says:

When every other man you meet, owing to peculiar atmospheric changes, has a cold in his head, is it surprising that large numbers of our horses should show symptoms of catarrh The atmospheric change should affect horseflesh as readily as they affect human flesh. A horses coughs, and men do likewise. Pray, then, do not let the sensational papers scare you out of your boots! The terrible horse desease is not half so terrible in reality as it is in print:

A cotemporary gives the following as an excelent preventative of the desease:

Sprinkle half a teaspoonful of pulverized asafoetita on a rag and wind it round the bit, and place it in the horse's mouth, except when feeding. The dose has to be renewed every two days.

☞Bev. J. W. HOOD, Bishop of the Virginia Conference of the African M. E. Zion Church, spent a few days among his people in town this week. He is a man of more than ordinary ability.

☞We learn that the Dismal Swamp Steam Transportation Company have just purchased the Steamer "William Gates" brought here by the Messrs KENYONS from New York. It will will soon be placed upon the line.

☞To several Perquimans correspondents inquiring on whose authority certain distinguished speakers were announced to address meetings in that county; we answer we do not know. We never make an appointment that we don't have filled.

☞If a number who have been regularly receiving the NORTH CAROLINIAN fail to get it after this week they will know the reason—they have failed to settle their subscription. Next week we propose beginning the work of "retrenchment and reform" and the work will go on from time to time until our subscription book is pruned of all who have too long been dead weights. Friends! do not compel us to drop your names. If we do, the fault, after this notice, will be yours. Remit at once.

☞The stranger who passes along and through the swamps of the Carolinas and notices the wonderful growth of reeds is naturally led to wonder to what possible use this luxuriant product can ever be adapted? But let him once visit the large works at Deep Creek, Va., as we did a short time ago, and his skepticism will vanish. There, by a peculiar steaming process, these reeds are rapidly converted into a form—the fibre separated from the other parts—which is readily manufactured into wall, building and wrapping paper. The enterprize is a success.

☞In reply to an indignant correspondent we would say: You are correct. North Carolina is a Republican State and her people desire to be represented in the United States Senate by an earnest reliable Republican. The vote for Governor and the popular vote on Congressmen conclusively show this. A fair districting of the State—see table in another column—would have given us a Republican Legislature. But the partisan Democracy so gerrymandered the districts as to defeat the popular will. Indeed they went so far in their party zeal as to utterly disregard and grossly violate the the Constitution which says: "Each district shall contain, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants." We shall have more to say on this subject hereafter.

☞The summer months of 1872 have come and gone, and during that time evidences of substantial material progress are visible all around us. In this City new buildings have been erected; some of these assuming magnificent proportions under the dexterous hands of educated labor, and the noise of the saw, plane hammer and trowell is still heard on every street. These homely instruments of toil have sounded the grandest symophny ever heard in our beautiful City, telling in the most effective manner of a still better future. And now that the fall months are on us our business men in the mercantile community are girding on the armor for the trade which is commencing under the most encouraging conditions. The regular trafic in merchandize of all descriptions is immense; the great staples of cotton, grain and lumber are moving, and altogether the fall outlook is of the most vivifying and encouraging character.

LOCAL PORT-FOLIO.

Again resumed—our 'local Port Folio." Nauseating business—eating crow. "The skin of my teeth"—see 29th, chapter of Job, How to cut a swell—turn your back on him. Wanted—a link from the chain of evidence. Riflemen—pickpockets. The first boy mentioned in the Bible—Chapter I. A social glass to which the ladies are addicted—mirror. Arc-angles—girls with the grecian bend. Rather scaley—the fish business. On the decrease—corner loungers. Don't do it—examine a mule from the back ground. One of the fall sports—squirrel shooting. Girls get ready—but two months more of leap year. A tale of two cities—the nomination of GREELEY. Oh where are they?—the "white hats."

Business Locals.

A large and better stock than ever at Fowler's. Go and see it.

For all the good things of the season—go to Fulmer's. His Eating Saloon is still the popular place to "feast" at.

The Norfolk Fair is over, but Lowenberg and Jacobs are still waiting on their customers and selling more goods than ever. Remember the place—22& 24 Market Square, West side.

William H. Seward never took a case against a woman.

The Morning Post, another Greeley paper issued in Philadelphia, has collapsed.

The Lafayette (Ind.) Dispatch (Democratic) confesses the defeat of its party at the November election, and hauls down the names of Greeley and Brown.

The Presidential election will not take place in all the States on the same day, as seems to be generally imagined. it will begin in Louisiana on the 4th of November. All the other States, except Texas, will follow on 5th, and Texas will close up the business with a four days' election, from the 5th to the 8th, inclusive.

"There is no place on the continent that it is dearer to me than Pittsburgh," said old Greeley in his soft-soaping harangue in that city while he was swinging around Andy Johnson's circle. Pittsburgh returned the compliment handsomely by giving a big majority against his party's candidates on the 8th of October. The Pittsburghers smoke their pipes in peace, but can't be humbugged.

MARRIAGES

WATERS—OWENS.—Near this place, on the 21st inst., by S. J. Halstead Esq., Capt. SAMUEL WATERS to MRS. MARY OWENS.

OLD THINGS HAVE PASSED AWAY.—This is at least true of the old method of treating the long abused and much abused human body. It is no longer considered wise to put a patient to the torture in order to cure him of a disease in which pain is already undermining the energies of his system. True science ranges itself on the side of nature, and endeavors to assist her in her fight against disease. This is the province of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most approved tonic ever advertised in this country. It may be recommended as a fall medicine, par excellence; for it is in the fall that biliousness, dyspepsia and malarious fevers are especially prevalent. The frame, exhausted by the heats of summer, is relaxed and feeble at its close, and requires, we may say demands artificial assistance. Afford it that assistance in occasional does of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and the evils referred to may be escaped. Throughout the far West, and on the steaming alluvial of the Southern rivers, all the varieties of periodical fever are probably rife to-day. Had a course of Hostetter's Bitters been commenced by the sufferers a month ago, i. e., before the unhealthy season set in, even-eighths of them would in all probability be in their usual health at the present time. So much for want of forecaste. So much for not keeping in the house, and using daily, the best safeguard against epidemic and endemic fevers.

As flocks of imposters and imitators are trying to follow in the wake of the great American remedy, therefore be sure that the article you buy is genuine and verified by the proper trade-marks. The true article can only be obtained in bottles. Beware of the spurious bitters sold by the gallon or in keg.

GRAND GIFT CONCERT

Postponed to Dec. 7, 1872.

THE SECOND GRAND GIFT CONCERT in aid of the Public Library in Kentucky, announced for September 28, has been postponed to December 7. 1872, because the accumulation of orders the few days before the drawing made it physically impossible to fill them without a few days' delay, and as a short postponement was inevitable, it was determined to defer it to a time that would make a full drawing sure by the sale of all the tickets.

The money necessary to pay in full all the offered gifts is now upon deposit in the Farmer's and Drovers' Bank, as will be seen by the following certificate of the Cashier:

FARMERS' AND DROVERS' BANK,
LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 26, 1872.

This is to certify that there is now on deposit in this bank over half a million of dollars to the credit of the Gift Concert fund, $500,000 of which is held by this bank as Treasurer of the Public Library of Kentucky to pay off all gifts to be awarded at the drawing.

R. S. VEACH, Cashier.

1,000 Prizes, amounting to

will be awarded, the highest prizes being $100,000, $50,000, $25,000, and down in regular gradation to $100, which is the lowest.

The drawing will positively and unequivocally take place December 7. Agents are peremptorily renqired to close sales and make returns November 25, in order to give ample time for final arrangements. Orders for tickets or applications for circulars should be addressed to

CELEBRATED

Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

SHEPPERD STREET MILLS.—

Steam Ploughing.

It is a singular fact, that with all the practical progressive ingenuity to which as a nation we are justly entitled, we are behind old Egypt in availing ourselves of the very important advantages of steam ploughing. In the cultivation of large tracts of land steam ploughing is undoubtedly more efficient, as well as economical, than the system. Our English cousins fully appreciate this. There are in England several different establishments employing over twelve hundred men each in the manufacture of steam ploughs. The plan found to work best in Great Brittain, is to have organized companies who hire out their steam machines and do the work by contract, and it is said that more than five hundred steam ploughs are thus held for hire. The success of the experiment is proved by its working on a tract of five hundred acres near London. So poor was this land deemed that it would not bring a rent of three dollars per acre, but after being ploughed by steam it brought a clear profit of $18,000 on grain crops. Scotland also finds no difficulty in making steam ploughing "pay." In Germany the same mechanical force meets with general approval, while further in the East the Pacha of Egypt employs four hundred of these ploughs.

In those countries the lands are old, and throughly freed from all obstructions, which may account for the more extensive use of steam ploughs. Then, again, the land being held in immense estates, the proprietors are able to purchase and use them with great economy, when their expensiveness would preclude small land-owners from the possibility of availing themselves of their advantages.

But our western praries are naturally level and free from obstructions, and there seems to be no existing reason for their not being plonghed by steam other than the reason which the Turk of Asia Minor and the Greaser of Mexico, today, to use a wooden plough instead of an iron one—to wit, thriftless ignorance. The use of the steam plough is no longer an experiment, as the above English statistics prove. It but remains, therefore, for our western farmers to club together and purchase them, using them fiast for themselves, and then doing their neighbors' ploughing by contract, making money by the operation. If the members of a new colony, for instance, would combine and purchase one of these ploughs, it will do more ploughing in a single day, than all the men together, leaving the laborers free to perfect all the other details necessary to establishing themselves; or private individuals might purchase them and plongh by contract, as it is done in many instances, with reapers and mowers, and almost universally with thrashing machines.—The Free Lance.

English Rules for Preserving Fruit.

The London Garden gives the following as the rules of the Royal Horticultural Society for the preservation of choice fruits:

1. As the flavor of fruit is so easily affected by heterogeneous odors it is highly desirable that apple and pear rooms should be distinct.

2. The walls and the floor should be annually washed with a solution of quicklime.

3. The room should be perfectly dry, with as uniform a temperature as practicable, and be well ventilated; but there should not be a thorough draft.

4. Use the utmost care in gathering fruit, handling as little as possible.

5. For presen use, fruit should be well ripened, but if for long keeping it is better, especially with pears, that it should not have arrived at complete maturity. This point, however, requires considerable judgment.

6. No imperfect fruit should be stored with that which is sound, and all more or less decayed specimens should be removed.

7. If placed on shelves the fruit should not lie more than two days, and no straw should be used.

8. Where especially clear and beautiful specimens are wanted they may be packed carefully on dry brand, or in layers of perfectly dry cotton wool, either in closed boxes or in large garden pots. Scentless sawdust will answer the same purpose, but pine sawdust is apt to communicate an unpleasant taste.

6. With care, early apple may be kept until Christmas; while many kinds may be preserved in perfection to a second year.

The rule given by American fruit-growers agree very well with the above, but make especial mention that fruit rooms for slow ripening should be nearly dark and the temprature low. Light and heat hasten maturity, and next, of course decomposition.

A Few Sheep on the Farm.

The relative profit is much greater from a small flock than a large one. The grain farmer, no matter how few his acres, can make money by keeping a few sheep. There is always room for them somewhere, and they consume and turn into money food that otherwise would waste. But he must be careful not to overstock. To illustrate: suppose the farmer cultivate only eighty acres, raising grain chiefly. He keeps a few cows and the necessary teams. One-fifth of his farm is in pasture, one-fifth meadow; one planted, one spring grain, and one wheat. He thinks he has as much stock as he can profitably keep, but if he puts on one sheep to every five acres, he will find their products clear gain. In the spring, early, they can run on the sod which is to be planted, and one sheep to each acre will not hurt the land, yet they will live well. After that they can go into the pasture, and will glean after the cows to advantage. A run on the stubbles after harvest will not be felt where each sheep has two acres, and in the fall there is plenty of feed. Through the winter they can be well kept on what the other stock would not consume, with the addition of a little grain. Probably the most profitable are some of the coarser wooled, mutton breeds. Their lambs sell to the butchers for high prices, and when fat the sheep fetch as much as a yearling steer. Sixteen mutton sheep, well managed, would produce a yearly income of one hundred dollars, where, if none were kept, nothing would be realized. The greatest drawback is liability to loss by dogs; and it is a disgrace to any State to protect its curs so well that they expel, to a certain extent, the only animal which can cheapen the meat and clothing of the People.—American Rural Home.

CLEANING MIRRORS.—The operation of cleaning mirrors and polished steel articles is an easy matter which rightly understood. The greatest care should be taken in cleaning a mirror to use only the softest articles, lest the glass be scratched. It should first be dusted with a feather brush, then washed with a sponge dipped in spirits to remove the fly sports; after this it should be dusted with the powder blue in a thsn muslin bag, and finely polished with an old silk handkerchief.

TO SPORTSMEN—

The uberiber would announce to his friends and the public that he continues at the old stand on Road street and keeps on hand a good assortment of Guns, Rifles, Pistols Sporting apparatus and also a fine selection of cutlery. He may at all times be found either in his store prepared to accommodate customers with New Goods, or in his shop adjoining, willing and happy to repair any article in his line of business.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where: and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water, the engine is 40 horse power, and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work, and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses, all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2,000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotank county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres, within one mile of the town with fine buildings, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North; and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C., for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $3,000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3,000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property.

A fine steam saw and grist mill at Hertford, the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pairs of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other out-houses. The section of country adjacent abounds in the finest yellow pine, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15,000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3,500, $7,00, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep, has got buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is on the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., (which cost over $15,000 two years ago.) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000, $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large with dwelling above containing six rooms, is in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses. Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splended stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500—one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 900 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c.; balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splended two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, 40 by 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splended trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, poplar, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultivation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultivation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next, balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 370 acres 8 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm its whole length on one side, and a branch of the River one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

A Farm of 200 acres within one mile of Elizabeth City, with good two story dwelling, large barn and stables, and all necessary outhouses, orchard of fine fruit trees, and a large number of ornamental trees and shrubbery around dwelling. This farm is on one of the most public roads in the County—is in a high state of cultivation—has fine and durable fences, &c. Altogether, it is the richest land and most desirable location, anywhere in the neighborhood of the town. Price $6000—one-half cash, balance in easy payments.

PREPARED WHEAT

AND

SUGAR OF MILK.

Patented July 23d. 1872.

A FARINACEOUS FOOD FOR INVALIDS AND INFANTS.

By the peculiar process in which this preparation is made, all the flesh forming constituents—EARTHY and SALINE elements of the grain are retained, with none of the STARCH, all of which being converted into Dextrine. It contains all the Lime, Sulphur, Phosphorus, Iron and Manganese for the animal juices, and Gum and Fecula for respiration and fatty tissue, with the proteine compounds (Gluten, Albumen &c.) from which nerve and muscular tissues are formed.

It is believed by the most intelligent men that much of the suffering, sickness and mortality of mankind is traceable to deficient or faulty nutrition. The same cause may also be assigned the frequent disapointment of physicians in the result of the action of most approved remedies.

We feel sure that this article will supply the deficiency.

What Horace Greeley Thinks of the Democratic Party.

EXTRACTS, RICH, RARE AND RACY.

Now that Mr. Greeley has become the leader of the Democracy, we present the following extracts from editorials of the New York Tribune, writen by Mr. Greeley during the forty years of his editorial life. They are refreshing, and will not nauseate Democrats who have lost all self-respect,—forsaken principle in their hunt for office,—and become first-class dirt-eaters. The extracts are as follows:

THE WHITE HOUSE DISEASE.

"Mr. Webster was not only a gentleman, but he had the elements of moral greatness; and he had his faults as well. He failed only in one respect; and in this respect I differ from him—he wanted to be President, and I don't."—Horace Greeley, in 1868.

OUR GREATEST MAN.

"We have seen our greatest man, Mr. Chase, making the same blunder. I have seen men who had the disease early, and died of it at a very old age."—Horace Geeley, in 1868.

THE FATE OF GEN. CASS.

"Gen. Lewis Cass died at 82, and up to the day of his death he wanted to be President. No one ever escapes who catches the disease: he lives and dies in the delusion. Being a reader and an observer at an early age, I saw how it poisoned and paralyzed the best of our public men, and have carefully avoided it."—Horace Greeley, in 1866.

THE GOOD SENSE OF GEN. GRANT.

"We, at least, in our day, have a President-elect who did not try to be President. He was elected mainly on that account."—Horace Greele'y, in 1868.

THE ENEMY OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

"If the Democratic party were called upon to decide between Grant and myself, I know that their regard for what they must call principle would induce nine-tenths of them to vote against me. Why? I am a decided enemy of that party, even in its most respectable aspects."—Horace Greeley, in 1871.

PICTURES OF THE DEMOCRACY.

"Every one who chooses to live by pugilism or gambling or harlotry, with nearly every keeper of a tippling house, is politically a Democrat."—Horace Greeley.

IGNORANCE A DEMOCRATIC ALLY.

"If there were not a newspaper or a common school in the country, the Democratic party would be far stronger than it is."—Horace Greeley.

DEMOCRATIC ESSENTIALS.

"The essential articles of the Democratic creed [are] 'love rum and hate niggers.' The less one learns and knows, the more certain he is to vote the regular ticket from A to izzard."—Horace Greeley.

WHO ARE DEMOCRATS.

"We thereupon asked our contemporary to state frankly whether the pugilists, blacklegs, thieves, burglars, keepers of dens of prostitution, etc., etc., * * * were not almost unanimously Democrats."—Horace Greeley.

DEMOCRATIC VIRTUES.

"To smoke is a Democratic virtue; to chew is that virtue intensified; to drink rum is that virtue in the superlative."—Horace Greeley.

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATS.

"Point wherever you please to an election district which you will pronounce morally rotten, given up in great part to debauchery and vice; where voters subsist mainly by keeping policy-offices, gambling houses, grog-shops and darker dens of infamy, and that district will be found at nearly or quite every election giving a majority for that which styles itself 'the Democratic party.' Take all the haunts of debauchery in the land, and you will find nine tenths of their master spirits active partisans of that same Democracy. What is the instinct, the sympathetic chord, which attaches them so uniformly to this party? Will you consider?"—Horace Greeley.

REBEL DEMOCRACY.

"The brain, the heart, the soul of the present Democratic party is the rebel element at the South, with its Northern allies and simpathisers. It is rebel at the core to-day. It would come into power with the hate, the chagrin, the wrath, the mortification of ten bitter years to impel and guide its steps. It would devote itself to taking off or reducing tax after tax until the Treasury was deprived of the means
